Empello

Brand Identity, Website and marketing materials

Empello is one of the first brands I did when I started. Is a brand that over 5 years later I still stand for it. They chose the right option and managed to make it stronger. We have evolved the website a few times, but the brand keeps the essence from the first day.

Intrepid Travel

Marketing

Intrepid Travel is an adventure travel company. Their marketing has to be experiential and be adaptable to all media. While the brand has to be protected from disruption, the design has to always capture the imagination of its main clients. It's a fun challenge.

Apricus

Brand Identity

I am starting my portfolio with a project I didn't win. Why? Because despite I lost the pitch, I think the project is strong, and I am proud.

Apricus means sun, and their job is to shine the stigma of mental health at the workplace. The idea behind the logo and the whole brand was to show a circle (symbolising the sun) made of pieces. The gold colours and turquoise represent the sky's shining sun and give a high-end finish to the brand.

Amazon

Marketing

Working in campaigns for their Audible brand. Primarily digital, but sometimes it involved crossing the line to print, which made the challenge enjoyable to keep the campaign's essence in both media.

MoMo's Dairy

Brand Identity

The idea is a happy looking logo that changes like the cow print does in each cow. I designed four different shaped versions of the logo, that can be used simultaneously. It's a logo that shows the hand made feel, but simultaneously explains the value perception of the brand.

The logo shows an essential element of the raw material, to make the cheese and honour the cows, producing this great product. A potential evolution is to adapt those cow print to real shapes of the cows.
